

Reiner Blankenhorn – Head of Production and IT, Langenscheidt KG

Reiner Blankenhorn began his career as an apprentice typesetter at the Stuttgart University of Applied Sciences for Printing, receiving his diploma as a print engineer in 1991. From 1991 – 1993 he was responsible for various functions at Haller Druck in Weinsberg, after which he moved to the Reader's Digest publishing house Das Beste to work in the field of production/purchasing. From 1998 – 2002 he was head of production at Langenscheidt, and from 2002 – 2003 he served as head of production at BookworXs, a subset of the publishing group Georg v. Holtzbrinck. Since 2003 he has been head of production and information management at Langenscheidt.